

Energy Audit of Compressor System

Singhal D K

ABSTRACT

In most of the paper mills, compressed air is used for instrumentation such as pneumatic cylinders, actuators, I/P converters, P/I converters etc. Additionally, air is also used for process applications such as tail feeding, cleaning of water filters etc. The present work indicates how an energy audit can be used to optimize the system for minimum power consumption